

DEW DROP

IN

From time to time for the Indiana Project WET update

January - February 2002

Welcome to the new format for keeping you updated on what is happening in Indiana with Project WET.

2002 will be an exciting and another BUSY year.

Project WET will be receiving an EPA 319 grant to develop a Storm Drain Marking How to Guide and Video. This project officially starts in July 2002, but we will be happy to take your suggestions and ideas for this project. Several groups have written letters of support and will assist in this endeavor.

An outline of the development of a water history cabin at the Indiana State Fair, Pathway to Water Quality will be kicked off in a presentation to the Ladies Auxiliary at the Soil and Water Conservation District Conference in Indianapolis in January. This will be an exciting undertaking and will be unveiled in July at the International Soil and Water Conservation Societies Conference held in Indianapolis. Held prior to the Indiana State Fair, which starts in August. (www.hoosierchapterswcs.org)

February is the time to attend HASTI (Hoosier Association of Science Teachers, Inc.) Conference and Workshop. Go to www.HASTI.org to see a conference agenda and how to register. Project WET will have a booth along with the other programs at the NREC. We will be at site 501,503,505 & 507. Project WET will give two of the sessions at the conference on:

How to hold a Water Education Day

Indiana Youth Environmental Summit – 2003 – share your ideas.

Dew Drop In Again soon for additional updates!!!!!!!

*Indiana Project WET is a program of Purdue University and IDNR Division of Soil Conservation projectwet@dnr.state.in.us smschultz@purdue.edu
317-562-0788*